ARB ACCESSORIES FOR MAZDA BT-50

July 2012

Owners of the all-new Mazda BT-50 now have access to an extensive range of accessories designed and developed by ARB. The new line of off road equipment for the BT-50 includes ARB deluxe bull bars, ARB roof racks, ARB Air Lockers, under vehicle protection and Old Man Emu suspension.

Providing the BT-50 with an enormous amount of frontal protection, the deluxe bull bar features ARB's renowned multi-fold upswept wings, assisting in the optimisation of approach angles. The bar incorporates a split pan design and vented stone shield for maximum strength and airflow, and also features extensive under wing panels. For even greater protection, the bar is compatible with ARB's new under vehicle protection panels, which shield the vehicle's engine and transmission components. Twin Hi-Lift jacking points and provision for IPF lights and aerials are also featured, while air bag functionality is retained for optimum safety. Suitable for winch and non-winch applications, the BT-50 bar accommodates Warn and Bushranger low mount model electric winches up to 9500lb. Finished in a durable powder coat, the BT-50 deluxe bar can be colour coded for further customisation.

For those wanting to maximise the carrying and space capacity of the BT-50, an ARB canopy is an excellent option. Protecting belongings from the elements and offering a secure place for equipment, ARB offers canopies to suit both the dual cab 4x4 and 4x2 BT-50 variants. Specifically designed and engineered to the BT-50's unique new shape, the canopies feature lockable rear and side windows, with either a smooth or grained exterior available. ARB also manufactures a range of canopy roof racks for the BT-50, with optional rollers available to assist in loading equipment onto the racks.

BT-50 owners can also enjoy the benefits of Old Man Emu suspension. Designed to provide ride control improvements on and off road, each integrated suspension system can be tailored to the owner's requirements, as well as the conditions the BT-50 will be used under.

ARB manufactures and distributes a range of additional products suited to the Mazda BT-50 that are designed to make off road travels a more enjoyable and all round safer experience.
